Tri∇Angle • Janus • Sc-Fi & Fantasy

Lotic is DJ and producer J'Kerian Morgan. Raised in Houston, Texas and now operating out of Berlin, Morgan is a resident at the city's famed Janus parties and in recent years has evolved into one of the most original voices of Berlin's club life.

The 25-year-old released two EPs in 2013 - Sankofa / Glittering, and Fallout - both on Sci Fi & Fantasy, and has followed up with 2014's Damsel in Distress on Janus's own imprint.

Having featured on Bjork's recent sit-in for Rinse FM alongside a flurry of press attention, the stereotype-baiting producer's first official outing, 2015's Heterocetera EP on Tri Angle, is undeniably worthy of the hype. His Berlin-via-Houston sound is an apocalyptic mix of haunting synth melodies, destructive beats, and skewed experimental electronica.

In clubs Lotic is known to harness abstract leanings through hybrid live/DJ sets of gut wrenching bass and lurching Hip Hop rhythms, occasional shards of contemporary R&B splintered with tactile hi-hats, consistently swirling crowds into an unabashed party vortex.

Press

"...one of 2014's most important mix tapes" -Fact Magazine on Damsel In Distress

"His masterful way with configured elements provides the illusion of a story without dictating the narrative: Here, you decipher the tones and rhythms, and conjure your own ideas of good and evil." -Pitchfork on Heterocetera 8.0/10

"Over its 20 minutes, the EP pushes dance music through violent twists and turns until it becomes disorienting and startling." Resident Advisor on Heterocetera 4.2/5
